OBITUARY.

The death of Mrs. J. W. Holliday at the family residence on Eighth street, Tuesday morning, was peculiarly sad.

A fortnight ago scores of friends and relatives were bidden to come to the Holliday home on April 21st to celebrate the golden anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Holliday, but on the 19th Mrs. Holliday became ill and the invitations were recalled on the morning of the anniversary.

Mrs. Holliday gradually grew worse and on Tuesday morning she passed peacefully away. She was seventy years old. Her maiden name was Martha Heritage and she was married to Mr. Holliday in Louisville on April 21st, 1850. The deceased is survived by her husband and eight children: Mrs. Anna Peebles, Wm. and Misses Lizzie and Nellie Holliday, of Pawtucket, R. L. Thomas Holliday, of Iowa, Albert Holliday, of Cleveland, and Misses Emily and Carrie Holliday, of this city, and a sister living in Missouri. The deceased was a most estimable Christian woman. All of her children, except Thomas, who could not be reached by wire, were with her during her last hours.

A large number of friends attended the funeral Wednesday afternoon at the family residence. The services were conducted by Rev. J. S. Meredith, of the Episcopal Church, and the remains were interred in the Paris cemetery.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Henry Spears, W. W. Forman, M. B. Lovell, B. D. Smedley, Ed. Caldwell, Harry O. James.

The Pawtucket firm, of which Wm. Holliday is a member, sent a handsome floral design to the funeral.

LIFE IS SHORT

And Opportunities Should Be Taken Advantage of - All Successful Men Have Made Money In That Way. When a Bargain is Presented They Always Get In On Ground Floor.

If you have not yet visited our ware rooms and inspected the fine stock of pianos and organs we have off ~~the~~ ~~the~~: low prices and easy terms, you have certainly missed seeing one of the greatest inducements ever offered to intending purchasers of pianos in this city.

Time is passing and if you are not careful this sale will soon close and you will have lost the opportunity of a life time go by without even investigating it, and when it costs nothing to make an investigation, you are not doing yourself justice.

When down the street take time and inspect the merits of the pianos, and you can also take time to pay for them. There may be others as good, but you can not buy them at the prices or on the terms we are selling them for.

Remember a LITTLE CASH down and payments of $5, $6, $8 to $10 per month buys a piano. What easier way could you think of for securing a nice piano for home.

Remember $168 buys a $250 piano; $198 buys a $300 piano, and so on up to $360 for a $500 one. All are fully guaranteed and warranted, and many are in use in Bourbon County, and have been for years. If you wish to know who have them, come to the store and we will tell you.

Brand new organs from $56 to $72, the kind that usually sell for almost double that. Stool and book with each organ, stool and scarf with each piano. Store open evenings, Main street, opposite court house.

THE QUIET HOUR.

Thou knowest all our trials, Lord,
Each sin and need and grief.
And Thou hast promised in Thy Word
Sometime to send relief.
But Thou hast set a task for each,
As soldiers in a war,
Who storm some point, the height to reach,
Through battles' thunderous roar.

Help us, for we are faint indeed!
Our little strength increase;
With whom the world would be feed,
And bid the fears to cease.
From thy great white throne far above
Thou dost our conflicts see;
O God of power, Thou God of love,
Our Friend and Helper be.

Let purity and truth be ours
While here we dwell below,
Accept and consecrate our powers,
Make every virtue grow.
Lead Thou through each perplexing strife,
Be with us all the way,
Lift up our hearts from death to life,
Crown Thou each passing day.
Oh, when our hope is burning low,
Its oil is well-nigh spent,
As up the rugged path we go—
The rocky, steep ascent—
Be thine the voice resounding clear
With victory's thrilling ring,
To tell thy people Thou art near
The needed aid to bring!

No time need be wasted in telling the effect of this "assignment to quarters." Prolific a source of squabble as is the custom ashore it becomes intensified afloat, and when coupled with it came a shaking up and rearrangement of seats at table, all hope of harmony vanished on the instant. The two brave young army girls still retained their seats at the captain's table; but two most estimable young women, Red Cross nurses, were dropped therefrom and transferred to that of the second officer on the port side, much to the comfort of a rather large percentage of their sisterhood who had regarded their previous elevation with feelings of not unmixed gratification. Then officers who had been seated with the general's staff had to vacate in favor of Mrs. Frank and Dr. Prober and Lieutenant Billy Gray, whose father and the chief were long-time chums, and the Red Cross nurses who had been at the first officer's table fell back to that of the third. It was every bit as good as the other, but it didn't sound so, and they couldn't see it; and there were faces sour as the product of the ship's baker when that evening all hands went down to dinner, and the silence maintained, or the ominously subdued tone of the talk, at the other tables was in marked contrast with the hilarity that prevailed where sat the gray-haired, ruddy-cheeked old chief and the laughing coterie that listened to the fun that fell from the lips of Witchie Garrison, Armstrong, silent and somber, at the captain's right, looking forward from time to time, saw only one face at the general's table that was not lighted up with merriment; it was the face of the boy he envied, if envy of this kind ever entered into his heart, and he wondered as he looked at Billy's curly head what could have come over that glad young life to leave so deep a shadow on his handsome face.

One night, just one week later, Armstrong's eyes were opened. More than once in the meanwhile he had invited the young officer's confidence, and Billy, who three months earlier had been all gratitude and frankness, protested there was nothing on his mind. He had been very ill, that was all. As to Canker's charges they were simply rot. He hadn't the faintest inkling what had become of the purloined letters any more than he had of the whereabouts of his Delta Sig friend, young Morton, now officially proclaimed a deserter. But Armstrong heard more tales of Witchie's devotions to him in his illness, and the slow convalescence that ensued, noted how the boy's eyes followed her about the deck, and how many a time he would seek her side, even when other men were reading, walking or chatting with her. Armstrong looked with wonderment that was close allied to incredulity and pain. Was it possible that this blithe lad, who had won such a warm interest in the heart of such a girl as Amy Lawrence, could be forgetful of her, faithless to her, and fascinated now by this selfish and shallow butterfly? It was incredible!

But was it? The days had grown hotter, the nights closer, and the air between decks was stifling when the sea rolled high and closed the ports. Officers had taken to snoozing up on deck in steamer chairs. By an unwritten law the port side of the promenade deck was given up to them after 11 at night; but the women folk had the run of the starboard side at any hour when the crew were not washing down decks. Armstrong had been far forward about two o'clock one breathless night to see for himself the condition of things in the hospital under the forecastle. The main deck was crowded with sleeping forms of soldiers who found it impossible to stand the heat below; so on his return, instead of continuing along the gangway, he decided to climb the iron ladder from the main to the promenade deck. It would land him at the forward end of the starboard side. There he could smoke a cigar in peace and quiet. It was high time everybody was asleep. But as his head and eyes reached the level of the deck he became suddenly aware of a couple huddled close together in the shelter of a canvas screen, and under the steps leading aloft to the bridge. He knew Gray's voice at once, and Gray was pleading. He knew her tones of old, and she was imperious, and listening with obvious impatience, for, almost at the instant of his arrival she spoke, low, yet distinctly: "Do as I say; do as I beg you when we reach Manila, and then come—and see how I can reward."

CHAPTER XV.

Manila at last! Queen city of the archipelago, and Manila again besieged! The loveliest of the winter months was come. The Luneta and the Paseo de Santa Lucia, close to the sparkling waters, were gay every evening with the music of the regimental bands and thronged with the carriages of old-time residents and their new and not too welcome visitors. Spanish dames and damsels, invisible at other hours, drove or strolled along the roadway to enjoy the cool breezes that swept in from the beautiful bay and take wistful peeps at the dainty toilets of the American belles now arriving by every boat from Hong-Kong. All the Castilian disdain they might look and possibly feel toward the soldiery of Uncle Sam gave place to liveliest interest and curiosity when the wives and daughters of his soldiers appeared upon the scene; and there was one carriage about which, whenever it stopped, a little swarm of officers gathered and toward which at any time all eyes were directed—that of the White Sisters. Within the old walled city and in the crowded districts of Bimondo, Quiapo and San Miguel north of the Pasig, and again in Paco and Ermita to the south, strong regiments were stationed in readiness to suppress the first sign of the outbreak so confidently predicted by the bureau of military intelligence. In a great semicircle of over 20 miles, girding the city north, east and south, the outposts and sentries of the two divisions kept watchful eyes upon the insurgent forces surrounding them. Aguilano and his cabinet at Malojo to the north had all but declared war upon the obstinate possessors of the city and had utterly forbidden their leaving the lines of Manila and seeking to penetrate those broader fields and roads and villages without. Still clinging to its breast the delusion that a semi-Malaysian race could be appeased by show of philanthropy, the government at Washington decreed that, despite their throwing up earthworks against and training guns on the American positions, the enemy should be treated as though they never could or would be hostile, and the privileges denied by them to American troops were by the American troops accorded to them. Coming and going at will through our lines, they studied our force, our arms, equipment, numbers, supplies, methods; and long before the Christmas bells had clangled their greeting to that universal feast day, and the boom of cannon ushered in the new year, all doubt of the hostile sentiments of the insurgent leaders had vanished. Already there had been ominous clashes at the front; and with every day the demeanor of the Philippine officers and men became more and more insolent and defiant. Ceaseless vigilance and self-control were enjoined upon the soldiers of the United States, nearly all stalwart volunteers from the far west, and while officers of the staff and of the half-dozen regiments quartered within the city were privileged each day to stroll or drive upon the Luneta, there were others that never knew an hour away from the line of the outposts and their supports. Such was the case with Stewart's regiment far out toward the waterworks at the east. Such was the case with the Primeval Dudes on the other side of the Pasig, lining the banks of the crooked estuary that formed the Rubicon we were forbidden to cross. Such was the case with Canker and the—teeth in the dense bamboo thicket to the south, and so it happened that at first Armstrong and Billy Gray saw nothing of each other, and but little of the White Sisters, probably a fortunate thing for all.

But once fairly settled in Manila, the White Sisters seemed to regain all the old ascendancy. Col. Frost had taken a big, cool, roomy house, surrounded by spacious grounds, down in Malate and close to the plashing waters of the bay. Duties kept him early and late at his office in the walled city; but every evening, after the drive and dinner, callers came thronging in, and all Witchie's witches were called into play to charm them into blindness and to cover Nita's fitful and nervous moods, now almost painfully apparent. Frost's face was at times a thundercloud, and army circles within the outer circle of Manila saw plainly that all was not harmony betwixt that veteran Benedict and that fragile, fluttering, baby wife. The bloom of Nita's beauty was gone. She looked wan, white, even haggard. She had refused to leave Hong-Kong or come to Manila until Margaret's arrival, then flew to the shelter of that sisterly wing. Frank Garrison had been occupying a room under the same roof with his general, but both general and aide-de-camp were now much afield, and Frank spent far more days and nights along the line of blockhouses than he did at home. The coming of his wife was unannounced and utterly unexpected for. "Did I consult my husband?" she exclaimed in surprise, when asked the question one day by the wife of a veteran field officer. "Merciful heaven, Mrs. Lenox, there was no time for that except by cable, and at four dollars a word. No! If any doubt of what Frank Garrison will say or do exists in my mind I go and do the thing at once, then the doubt is settled. If he approves, well and good; if he doesn't—well, then I've had my fun anyway."

But it made little difference what Frank Garrison might think, say or do when Nita's need came in question. It was for Nita that Margaret Garrison so suddenly quitted the Presidio and hastened to Hawaii. It was for her sake, to be her counsel and protection, the elder sister had braved refusal, difficulties, criticism, even Armstrong's open suspicion and dislike, to take that long voyage to a hostile clime. That she braved, too, her husband's displeasure was not a matter of sufficient weight to merit consideration. She was there to help Nita; and until that hapless child were freed from a peril that, ever threatening, seemed sapping her very life, Margaret Garrison meant to stay.

For the letter that came by way of

He knew Gray's voice at once.

Honolulu had told the elder sister of increasing jealousy and suspicion on the colonel's part, of his dreadful rage at Yokohama on learning that even there—the very hour of their arrival—the consul came aboard with a batch of letters in his hand, he had one for Mrs. Frost. She had barely glanced at its contents before she was stricken with a fit of trembling, tore it in half, and tossed the fragments on the swift ebbing tide, then rushed to her state-room. There she added a postscript to the long letter penned to Margaret on the voyage; and the purser, not her husband, saw it safely started on the Gaelic, leaving for San Francisco via Honolulu that very day. That letter beat the ordinary mail, for the Queen was heading seaward, even as the Gaelic came steaming in the coral-guarded harbor, and a little packet was tossed aboard the new troop ship as she sped away, one missive in it telling Witchie Garrison that the man whose life had been wrecked by her sister's enforced desertion was already in Manila awaiting her coming, and telling her, moreover, that the packet placed in Gen. Drayton's hands contained only her earlier letters. In his reckless wrath Latrobe had told her that those which bound her to him by the most solemn pledges, those that vowed undying love and devotion, were still in his hands, and that she should see him and them when at last she reached Manila.

Three mortal weeks had the sisters been there together, and never once in that time did Nita venture forth except when under the escort of her black-browed husband or the protection of her smiling, witching, yet vigilant Margaret. Never once had their house been approached by anyone who bore resemblance to the dreaded lover. All along the Calle Real, where were the quarters of many officers, little guards of regulars were stationed; for black rumors of Filipino uprising came with every few days, and some men's hearts were failing them for fear when they thought of the paucity of their numbers as compared with the thousands of fanatical natives to whom the taking of human life was of less account than the loss of a game chicken, and in whose sight assassination was a virtue when rid one of a foe. Already many officers who had weakly yielded to the opportunity of a devoted wife was cursing the folly that led him to let her join him. The outbreak was imminent. Any one could see the war was sure to come—even those who strove to banish alarm and reassure an anxious nation. And when the call to arms should sound, duty, honor and law would demand each soldier's instant answer on the battle line; then who was to care for the women? The very servants in each household, it was known, were in most cases regularly enrolled in the insurgent army. The crowded districts in the city, the nipa huts surrounding the wealthy homes in the suburbs swarmed with Filipino soldiers in the garb of peace. Arms and ammunition, both, were stored in the great stone churches. Knives, bolos and pistols were hidden in every house. Through the clergy, in some instances, and foreign residents in others, the statement was set afloat that every American officer's residence was mapped and marked, that the Tagals were told off by name—so many for each house in proportion to the number of American inmates—and day after day, awaiting the signal for their bloody work, were native devotees greeted with servile bows and studied the habits of the officers they were designated to fall upon in their sleep and slay without mercy. Even women and children were not to be spared; and many a woman, hearing this grievesome story, trembled with fear. For a time, in dread of this new peril, Nita Frost almost forgot the other; but not so Margaret. She scoffed and scouted the rumor of Filipino outbreak. She laughed at Frost, who all too evidently believed in it and was in hourly trepidation. He begged that the guard at his quarters might be doubled, and was totally unnerved when told it might even have to be reduced. Not so Mrs. Frank. She made friends with the stalwart sergeant commanding; always had hot coffee and sandwiches ready for the midnight relief; made it a point to learn the name of each successive non-commissioned officer in charge, and had a winsome smile and word for the sentries as she passed. It wasn't Filipino aggression that she feared. The men wondered why she should so urgently bid them see that no strangers—Americans—were allowed within the massive gates. There were tramps, even in Manila, she said. When the sisters drove, their natty little Filipino team flashed through the lanes and streets at top speed, the spry Victoria bounding at their heels to the imminent peril of the cockaded hats of the dusky coach and footman, if not even to the seats of those trim, white-coated, big-buttoned, top-booted, impulsive little Spanish-bred servitors. The carriage stopped only at certain designated points, and only then when a group of officers stood ready to greet them. Not once had they been menaced by anyone nor approached by any man even faintly resembling poor Latrobe; and Witchie Garrison was beginning to take heart and look upon that threatening letter as a mad piece of "bluff," when one day the unexpected happened.

HUNTING IN CUBA.

Many Domestic Animals Have Run Wild and Now Afford Excellent Sport.

In eastern Cuba Weyler's campaigns of extermination have led to an unexpected result—a decided and probably permanent improvement of the local hunting grounds. Thousands of stampeded pigs, goats and chickens have taken refuge in the Sierras and become self-supporting enough to defy recapture. Practice has also improved their speed. Barnyard fowl have turned into wood birds and pass the night in almost inaccessible roosts—the top branches of tall forest trees, shrouded by a mantle of tangled vines. The Spanish settlers who imported pigs from Andalusia and Aragon would not recognize their descendants in the jungles of the Sierra de Cobre. Ordinary hunting dogs can hardly venture to encounter the fierce boars that rush at every intruder of their lairs and stand at bay until their female relatives have scuttled into pathless thickets.

As natural game preserves both Cuba and San Domingo have, in fact more than doubled their attractiveness since the time when the companions of Columbus explored the uplands of Santiago and marveled at the almost total absence of wild quadrupeds. Birds abounded, but there were no deer in the forests, no foxes, bears or badgers in the mountain cliffs. There were neither rabbits nor squirrels, the only indigenous animals being the huita, a burrowing rodent that seems to form a connecting link between the marmots and woodrats.—Indianapolis Press.

FIFTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

Summary of Leading Events.

Washington, April 19.—Senate—A joint resolution was passed providing for the administration of civil affairs in Porto Rico, pending the appointment of officers under the Porto Rico government law recently enacted. The Alaskan code bill was again under consideration, the debate continuing on the Hansbrough alien miners amendment.

House—The entire session was taken up debating a proposition in the naval bill designed to turn over to the navy the survey and charting of the waters of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. The bill carried an appropriation of $100,000 for this purpose.

Washington, April 20.—Senate—The conference report on the Hawaiian civil government measure took up the greater time of the session. The Alaskan civil code bill was considered for a brief time, and Senator Foraker pronounced a eulogy on the late Lorenzo Danford, a representative from Ohio. Suitable resolutions were adopted.

House—The entire session was taken up in discussing the naval appropriation bill. But little progress was made.

Washington, April 21.—Senate—Resolutions were adopted calling upon the secretary of war for information as to the allowances made to army officers stationed in Cuba and Porto Rico and the sums expended in providing quarters, equipages and other conveniences for them. Consideration of the Quay case was resumed, and Mr. Perkins presented an argument favorable to Mr. Quay's claim to a seat in the senate under the governor's appointment.

House—The naval appropriation bill was passed. It provides for two battle ships, three armored cruisers and three protected cruisers. The $345 figure on armor was stricken out. Other bills passed were: Fixing the compensation of the United States commissioners in Chinese deportation cases; for a bridge over the Big Sandy river, Kentucky; for a bridge across the Tallahatchie river, Mississippi. Eulogies on the late Representative Evan E. Settle, of the Seventh Kentucky district, occupied the remainder of the session.

Washington, April 22.—Senate—The entire session was taken up discussing the right of M. S. Quay to a seat in the senate under the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania.

House—The post office appropriation bill occupied the entire time of the session, general debate ending with adjournment.

Washington, April 24.—Senate—Hon. Matthew S. Quay was refused a seat in the United States senate on the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania by a vote of 33 to 32. The entire time of the senate was devoted to debate upon the question, many of the greatest lawyers and orators in the body delivering speeches.

House—The Foraker emergency resolution to continue the present officers in Poro Rico in office until the appointments are made under the civil government act was adopted. About 20 pages of the post office appropriation bill were disposed of, the only substantial amendment adopted being one to give extra compensation to letter carriers who work in excess of 48 hours a week.

Washington, April 25.—Senate—After a brief debate the conference report on the Hawaiian civil government bill, the provisions relating to the right of franchise and imprisonment for debt having been amended to conform to the ideas of the senate, was agreed to. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed, carrying little over $2,000,000. The Alaskan civil government bill was under consideration for an hour, but no progress was made.

House—The entire session was devoted to the post office appropriation bill. By a vote of 87 to 50 the appropriation of $725,000 for the pneumatic tube service in New York, Boston and Philadelphia was stricken out.

FIRE IN PHILADELPHIA.

Several Big Factories Burned, Entailing a Loss of Nearly Half a Million Dollars.

Philadelphia, April 26.—Fire which started on the top floor of J. W. McCausland's paper spool factory, at 227 Church street, spread to adjoining property, and before the flames had gotten under control did damage to the extent of about $35,000.

From the McCausland building, only the two upper floors of which were damaged, the fire spread to the nine-story brick building in the rear on Filbert street, used by John & James Dobson, manufacturers of carpet, as a warehouse for the storage of woolens and carpets. This building was formerly used as a sugar refinery, and all of the nine floors were thoroughly saturated with sugar and molasses, and the names spread quickly to every floor. The Dobsons' loss will reach about $200,000; McCausland's loss will be about $25,000; Fisher, Bruce & Co., wholesale chinaware, and Fleming & Chapman, wholesale cotton, $25,000.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

All She Asked.

"And you say you would die for me, George?"

"Die for you? Yes, a thousand deaths."

"You are a noble man, George."

"Any darling, you do not know me yet."

"Well, dear, I do not wish you to die for me, but I will tell you what you can do for me."

"What is it? Shall I pluck the stars from the cerulean dome?" Shall I say to the sea—"Ha! ha! cease to flow, for my love wills it?"

"Shall I tell you bright and inconstant moon that is glinting you hilltops with her light that she must not shine on thy face too roughly?"

"No, George, no," she smilingly said. "I do not wish you to attempt such impossibilities."

"Yes?"

"All I ask of you is this—don't call again."

THE PHILIPPINE WAR.

Hundreds of Filipinos Slain in Different Parts of the Island.

Many Villages Burned By Insurgents Because the Inhabitants Traded With the Americans—Gen. Bell Threatens to Retaliate.

Manila, April 26.—Officers who have arrived here from Nueva Ecija province of South Camarines, bring details of a fight April 16, in which so Filipinos were killed. The American outposts reported 300 natives assembled three miles from the town and Gen. Bell sent three detachments of the 45th regiment, with two Maxims, who nearly surrounded the Filipinos, the majority of whom were armed with bolos and wore carabao hide helmets, coats and shields. The Filipinos were quickly put to flight, leaving the field strewn with armor. Their riflemen were unable to shoot straight, and the bolomen never got near enough to the Americans to do my execution. Therefore, none of the Americans were wounded.

Lieut. Balch, with 20 cavalrymen from the 37th regiment, cornered 50 bolomen in a river and shot every one, the bodies floating away. One soldier had his head struck off with a bolo.

Gen. Bell's two regiments are hard worked in clearing the country. They met with many small squads of bolomen, and last week killed a total of 125. A squadron of the 11th cavalry is about leaving Manila on board the transport Lennox to reinforce them. The insurgents keep the province in a state of terror, and are wreaking vengeance on natives who trade with the Americans, burning many villages, including the populous town of San Fernando.

Gen. Bell has issued a proclamation declaring that he will retaliate relentlessly unless this guerrilla warfare ceases, and that he will burn all the towns which harbor guerrillas. In a fight at Sorgogon, Albay province, on April 16, three companies of the 47th infantry, Capt. Gordon commanding, routed a large force of insurgents, mostly bolomen, killing 53.

The plans of Gen. Otis have not been announced, but it is understood he intends to sail on the Meade or Grant early in May. He will be accompanied by his staff, and will probably visit Hong Kong and other ports.

FOR FEAR OF RUSSIA.

Berlin Papers Say That the United States Will Not Press the Claims Against Turkey.

Berlin, April 26.—The Berlin papers publish a dispatch from Washington announcing that the Sultan of Turkey has yielded to the demand of the United States in the indemnity claim. The Vossische Zeitung, discussing the matter, points out the ill success of European powers in getting money from Turkey, and adds: "Through the payment to the American missionaries the sultan is reminded that a new element, expressing itself in unaccustomed forms, has entered into international intercourse."

The Berliner Tageblatt thinks that the United States, fearing Russia, will be satisfied with the sultan's acknowledgment of the indebtedness, and will not force payment.

London, April 26.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says: "The porte considers that its offer to rebuild the American structures burned at Kharput will close the question. It bases this belief on news that Russia has intimated an intention to oppose any attempt on the part of the United States to enforce payment."

A TRIPLE HANGING.

John Watson, Bill Brown and Sonnie Crain Pay the Penalty for Murder.

McMinnville, Tenn., April 26.—John Watson and Bill Brown, both white, and Sonnie Crain, colored, were hanged here Wednesday.

Watson was convicted of having shot his neighbor, James Hillis, from ambush, in December, 1898.

Brown was charged with complicity in the murder of his wife.

Crain was a double murderer. He was convicted of having killed another negro, and while serving his sentence killed John Brown, a fellow prisoner, in the jail here.

Sentenced for Embezzlement. Atlanta, Ga., April 26.—Thomas J. Hunter, former auditor of the Atlanta & West Point Railroad Co., was found guilty of embezzlement in the superior court and sentenced to the penitentiary for five years. It was charged against Hunter that he had misappropriated $20,000. When the trouble of a shortage arose Hunter was out of the city. He was later arrested in Morocco and returned here. He denied his guilt and put the blame on others in the auditor's office.

Japanese Rushing to America. Seattle, Wash., April 26.—United States immigrant Agent Healey gives an interview on the Japanese tidal wave, in which he says the rush will cause a labor upheaval. Five thousand are on the high seas and 25,000 are to come.

Held as Contract Laborers. San Francisco, April 26.—Immigration Commissioner North denied landing to 21 of the Japanese who arrived here on the steamer Nippon Maru two weeks ago, on the ground that they are contract laborers.

RIOT IN CHICAGO.

One Man Instantly Killed, Another Severely Wounded and Six Others Sustained Injuries.

Chicago, April 26.—In a labor riot which occurred at Racine and Wellington avenues one man was instantly killed, another severely wounded and six others sustained slight injuries.

The dead man is Petter Miller, who was shot through the head by H. C. Baster and instantly killed.

There were no other participants in the riot save those that were injured, and all were arrested by the police with the exception of Gibbons, who made his escape.

The fatal shot was fired by Baster, who is a superintendent employed by the Baker-Vawter Printing Co. at 1102 to 1108 Marietta street, a short distance from where the trouble occurred. The bullets which struck McGuire were also fired from the superintendent's weapon. His aim was true in each case, as but three shots were fired.

The killing was the outcome of three months of trouble with striking laborers. The firm employs non-union labor, and three months ago several messengers and feeders were discharged because they joined the union. The assaulting party consisted of Miller, McGuire, Pottgette, Jeckiske and Gibbons. With the exception of Miller, all are former employees of the firm. Those who were assaulted were Baster, Bernard and Yarranton. The latter three were on their way to their homes from work when the assault took place.

PENNSYLVANIA REPUBLICANS.

President McKinley Indorsed and Delegates Instructed to Vote for Him for Renomination.

Harrisburg, Pa., April 26.—The republican state convention, which was held in this city, cordially indorsed the administration of President McKinley and instructed the delegates to the national convention at Philadelphia to support his candidacy for renomination. The convention also declared in favor of the election of United States senators in the same manner that state officers are elected: indorsed Senator Penrose, the administration of Gov. Stone and other state officials, and pledged its "hearty and cordial support of Col M. S. Grant for re-election to the United States senate."

The convention also nominated Senator F. B. Hardin, of Wayne county, for auditor general, and Galusha A. Grow, of Susquehanna county, and Robert E. Foerderer, of Philadelphia, for congressmen-at-large.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION.

One Man Killed, Two Probably Fatally Injured and Eight Men and a Girl Receive Serious Injuries.

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 26.—One man was blown almost to atoms, two men received injuries which will probably prove fatal, and eight men and a girl received serious injuries by an explosion of several cans of blasting powder and dynamite at Larimer, Pa. Six of the injured were taken to the Westmoreland hospital at Greensburg. The others were removed to houses near the scene of the explosion.

The disaster occurred in a large double frame house which was almost blown to pieces.

The conclusion of the explosion was so great that all of the windows in the surrounding dwellings were shattered. It is believed that the blasting powder and dynamite, which was stored in the double house by the miners and railroad laborers, became ignited by the explosion of a lamp.

Both Stories Exaggerated.

Pekin, April 26.—The report from Tien Tsin, dated April 23, that a number of native Christians had been massacred by members of the Chinese secret society known as the "boxers" is quite erroneous. Some "boxers" attacked a village occupied by a number of Catholics, but were driven off. One villager was wounded. The Chinese report that 70 "boxers" were killed or wounded, which is doubtless an exaggeration.

Plague in Honolulu Has Disappeared. San Francisco, Cal., April 26.—The steamer Australia from Honolulu brings the following advices, dated April 17: The plague seems to have entirely disappeared and the United States consul issued the first clean bill of health to a vessel departing from here since December 12, to the schooner Bertha Miner, which sailed for Puget Sound on April 14.

An Exploring Party.

New York, April 26.—A dispute from Panama says: "H. C. Ripley and party, acting under the direction of the United States canal commission, have left for Darien, to explore the region between the Darien harbor and Caledonia bay on the Atlantic side of the isthmus, embracing also the rivers Sabane, Tuyna and Chucunaque.

Informed Commissioner Evans. Chatanooga, Tenn., April 26.—The Third congressional district republican convention elected delegates to the national convention and adopted resolutions instructing for McKinley and endorsing the administration of Senator Commissioner Evans.

Big Oil Strike. Elmira, N. Y., April 26.—One of the greatest oil strikes in the history of Pennsylvania oil fields has been made at Gaines Well No. 3, of the Blossburg Oil Co. The well flowed 100 barrels per hour the first 12 hours.

WEPENER IS RELIEVED.

Little Prospects of Roberts Catching the Boers in His Proposed Net.

They Have Rapidly Disappeared on the Approach of British Forces, Except at Boshof, Where They Have Retaken the City.

London, April 26.—Lord Roberts has telegraphed the following message to the war office:

Bloemfontein, April 25.—Dewetsdorp was occupied by Chermside without opposition at 9:30 o'clock this morning. The bullets which struck McGuire were also fired from the superintendent's weapon. His aim was true in each case, as but three shots were fired.

The killing was the outcome of three months of trouble with striking laborers. The firm employs non-union labor, and three months ago several messengers and feeders were discharged because they joined the union. The assaulting party consisted of Miller, McGuire, Pottgette, Jeckiske and Gibbons. With the exception of Miller, all are former employees of the firm. Those who were assaulted were Baster, Bernard and Yarranton. The latter three were on their way to their homes from work when the assault took place.

It is now apparent that the chances of Lord Roberts catching the retreating Boers in a net are very slender. The Boers have everywhere retired at the first pressure of the British advance, and the hope that Gen. Rundle would be able to induce them to remain at Dewetsdorp until they had been forced to fight or to surrender has been disappointing.

No attempt was made to pursue the commandoes retiring from Wepener. Everything now depends upon the progress of Gen. French's cavalry brigades, but they are entering a very difficult, hilly and practically unknown country.

The cavalry have already had a long march over heavy and sandy roads, and nothing is known regarding the condition of the horses. In any case it is now a race between the federals and the forces of Gen. French and Gen. Hamilton.

The slowness of the recent movements of the British infantry and previous experience of the ability of the Boers to move rapidly with guns and baggage over their own country lead to a belief that Lord Roberts' enveloping operations will fail and will have to be repeated farther north. At the most he will perhaps capture some Boer guns and baggage and hurry the retreating burghers.

Warrenton, April 25.—The Boers, having become emboldened, shelled the village and the British trenches, and it became necessary to give them a lesson and to ascertain their strength. Monday night Col. Paget placed several guns on the river bank, under cover of the darkness, within 1,000 yards of the Boer trenches across the river. The horses and carriages were withdrawn beyond range, and at daybreak the British opened a heavy bombardment with shrapnel and lyddite.

The Boers were taken completely by surprise, but they replied with five guns, including a 40-pounder, and a heavy rifle fire was opened at the same time. The duel continued many hours, the Boers finally evacuating the position with, it is believed, considerable loss.

There were no casualties on the British side. During the evening the guns were safely withdrawn. The sniping to-day showed that the Boer laager had been removed far back to the eastward.

London, April 26.—A special dispatch from Pretoria, dated Tuesday, says that the Boers have reoccupied Boshof, the British retiring.

London, April 26.—The Lorenzo Marques correspondent of the Times, telegraphing Tuesday, says: "It is asserted that the Boers are collecting enormous quantities of provisions at depots in the Lydenburg district, with a view to a final stand in the mountains. The districts around Johannesburg and Pretoria are being extensively entrenched. Begbie's foundry at Johannesburg is turning out 700 shells daily."

London, April 26.—The Times has the following from a special correspondent, dated Mafeking, Basutoland, April 25: "I rode from Jammersburg here, skirting Wepener, and I met Gen. Brabant's advance guard four miles south of Wepener. They report three successful fights, Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday, with 22 casualties. The siege was raised, and 5,000 of the enemy retired along the Ladybrand road within our sight and unpursued. Col. Dalgety's casualties are 33 killed and 132 wounded."

To Investigate Labor Troubles. Chicago, April 25.—Labor troubles in Chicago are to be investigated by a special committee of six aldermen, aided by five citizens. Recommendations may be made by this committee as to what steps can be taken to ameliorate or end the present difficulties. The committee consists of three republicans and three democrats.

Death of a Professor. Nashville, Tenn., April 25.—Prof. A. K. Spence, professor of Greek and French at Fisk university, died here, aged 69 years. He had been connected with the university for 30 years, and came here from the Michigan university, where he was a teacher.

Revolution Losing Ground. Caracas, Venezuela, April 25.—Adoles just received from Cucuta, Colombia, say that the Colombian revolution is losing ground daily, and that smallpox has invaded the ranks of the insurgents.

CLOSING EXERCISES

Of the Lexington Business College Last Evening. First Entertainment Of The King.

[Lexington Herald]

The first public commencement exercises of any business college in this city were those of the Lexington Business College at the Opera House last night. It was also made the occasion of an open session of the college society, the Arcolite, whose members contributed to the success of the entertainment by rendering most acceptably the different selections—literary and musical—upon the program.

The attendance was quite large, an unexpected public interest in this first business school exhibition having manifested itself to a surprising degree. It is pretty safe to assume that this class of commencement exercises has come to stay. And so has the college yell.

The exercises themselves were quite entertaining, the students acquiring themselves with credit and to the great enjoyment of the audience.

The students who graduated in the business department were Misses Marie Griffin and Sarah O'Mahony and Messrs. Lerner E. Guess, Roy L. Threlkeld, Fred Durham and John Willim.

Those who received their certificate of proficiency in stenography were Misses Mae Dinnelli, Elizabeth McConnell, Ida M. Park, Nettie Clarkson, Katherine Meader, Anna Booth, Grace Dryden, Katherine Maguire and Mary Roche.

The program was not too long and was sufficiently diversified to be amusing as well as attractive in other ways.

After prayer and music, a youthful orchestra supplying the latter, Miss Grace Deering recited very pleasantly "How the Night Winds Go." Miss Ida M. Parks read quite an amusing paper upon the experience of a student of stenography. It was a gem. Miss Mary Griffin recited recited "When Jack Comes Late" with charming effect.

The recitation by Miss Mae Dinnelli, the class representative, expressing an enthusiastic desire that there should be "Whistling in Heaven," was highly enjoyed.

Miss Lucy Dinnelli and Mr. Algin Wells sang some comic duets, with piano accompaniment by Miss Sarah O'Mahony. The singers were heartily encoraged.

The society paper, read by Miss Sarah O'Mahony, was devoted to college topics and college personalities, which the college students, highly appreciated.

The baccalaureate address was delivered by Col. W. C. P. Breckinridge, who alluded in his introductory remarks to his connection with a business college as a lecturer on commercial law thirty three years ago. The writer distinctly recollects those lectures, for he attended them, but he hates to think it was so long ago. Col. Breckinridge set before the audience, as well as the student class, a good deal to think about and all who heard him were better for the hearing.

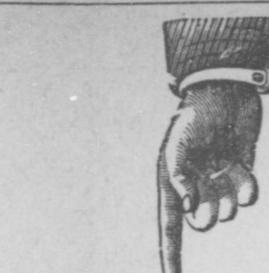

The diplomas were distributed by Prof. B. B. Jones.

Wound Proves Fatal.

Tom Sharp, colored, who was shot last Saturday night over a game of craps in Claysville by Emmett Kirk, colored, died Monday night. Coroner Roberts' inquest Tuesday developed that Sharp died from the effect of the wound.

The testimony also brought out the fact that Lizzie Jackson has been running a most disreputable dive in Claysville. In rear of her grocery is a bar room, a gambling room and a dance hall. The joint has been the scene of innumerable brawls.

Kirk escaped on a bicycle immediately after the shooting and has so far eluded arrest.

Dynamiters In Mt. Sterling.

Tuesday night unknown parties wrecked the Stevens House in Mt.
Sterling with dynamite. The explosion occurred at midnight and the shock threw a son of Mrs. Stevens, who runs the boarding house, out of his bed and across the room. Several members of the Dan Packard Opera Co. were badly frightened. The shock broke windows in nearly every house on the block.

HUNDREDS WERE KILLED.

Gen. Otis Gives a Brief Account of Two Battles Recently Fought in the Philippines.

Washington, April 25.—Gen. Otis has cabled the following account of recent engagements in the Philippines:

"Early on the morning of the 7th several hundred Tagalos and Vizayans attacked a battalion of the 40th infantry at Catagan, north coast of Mindanao. Our casualties were two killed and 11 wounded. The enemy's loss was 53 killed and 18 wounded and captured in the city, besides other losses suffered on retreat.

"Young reports from Northwestern Luzon that several hundred natives, influenced by Aguinaldo's bishop Aglipak, attacked his troops at several points, and in turn had been attacked. Their loss in the attack on Batoc on the 15th inst. was 106 killed, and during the entire fighting from the 13th to the 17th 332 were killed. Our loss during the same period was two killed and four wounded. Young has plenty of troops and will have little further opposition.

"Affairs at other Luzon points are improving, local presidents and inhabitants of towns giving information and rendering assistance. Our troops are now taking possession of interior small islands."

DESTITUTE AND STARVING.

Over Forty Families in Rankin County, Mississippi, Made So By the Flood.

Jackson, Miss., April 26.—A relief expedition has just returned from the overflowed district in Rankin county, and they report a deplorable condition of affairs among the inhabitants who have been left homeless by the high waters. Over 40 families, nearly all of them colored, were found in a destitute and starving condition, and in several instances people were found on small islands who had not tasted food for three days. Two boat loads of rations were distributed among them, and a popular subscription is now being taken for further relief.

On one small island the relief party found 40 Negroes and over 100 head of hogs, cattle and dogs gathered and shut off on all sides by the high water.

Reports from General Superintendent Clark, of the Mobile & Ohio railroad, are in effect that he will have trains operating on the road between Mobile and Meridian by Saturday. All the damage caused by the flood has been repaired, except at points between Waynesboro, Miss., and Quitman, Miss., and several hundred men are at work there day and night.

The work of replacing the lost spans of the Louisville & Nashville bridge over the Pascagoula river is progressing favorably, but it will be ten days yet before passenger or freight trains can be operated between Mobile and New Orleans. The transfer system by tug boat is in vogue during daylight, but no chances are taken at night.

FATAL FIRE IN NEW YORK.

Three Persons Were Killed and Three Severely Injured in a Six-story Tenement House.

New York, April 26.—Three persons were killed and three severely injured in a fire early Wednesday morning in the six-story tenement, No. 74 Forsyth street.

The injured persons were burned about the face and hands while making their escape.

None of them is seriously injured. The house in which the fire occurred is a typical East Side tenement, four families living on a floor. There were many thrilling escapes and brave rescues by the firemen and police. The children who lost their lives were overcome by the smoke on the upper floor before they could reach the window.

When the firemen succeeded in getting into the top floor they found the bodies of the children. All had been suffocated, but their bodies were blackened by the flames.

The damage to the building was about $10,000.

GIFT FROM SCHOOL CHILDREN.

Washington, April 26.—Adm. Dewey Wednesday received a handsome gold watch, the gift of 50,000 school children of the northwest. Only contributions of one penny from each child were received. The watch is made of gold mined in the Philippines, and the alloy in it was taken from a brass ring found on the Spanish ship Rein Christine, which was sunk by Dewey. Congressman McCleary, of Minnesota, presented the watch. The admiral was deeply touched.

SUNLIGHT AT NIGHT.

What a Prominent Resident of Xenia Says About Acetylene Gas—Lots of Light—Little Expense.

From the Xenia (O.) Daily Gazette, April 13. Mr. L. M. Garfield, well known in this city as the superintendent of the Miami Powder Works, was recently interviewed by a Gazette representative, regarding his personal experience with the new illuminant, known to the commercial world as Acetylene Gas. Mr. Garfield said:

"I installed a ten light acetylene generator in the cellar of my residence, 425 North Galloway street, about two years ago, and I have used it for illuminating my home every night since. I have certainly given it a thorough test during that length of time, and know its advantages. While the machine is supposed to develop sufficient gas for ten lights, I have often used as many as fifteen lights at once with perfect success. The light it gives is brilliant and white, and the nearest approach to sunlight of anything yet produced for artificial lighting."

"What about the expense, Mr. Garfield?"

"I have paid about four dollars a hundred pounds for the calcium carbide which is used in the generator to make the gas, and use something less than seven hundred pounds a year. Approximately the total cost per year has been about twenty-seven dollars, as the carbide is the only expense. It is the perfection of light at little cost and trifling labor, free from odor or anything objectionable. I have nothing but praise for the generator and the light it develops, and I am not speaking theoretically, but from my actual experience in my own residence."

In this connection, the 1899 report to the Governor of the State, of Mr. A. W. Stiles, secretary of the Girls' Industrial Home, at Rathbone, O., regarding the Acetylene Gas plant in use in that institution, will be of interest to our readers.

Mr. Stiles says: "Our Acetylene Gas plant has given very gratifying results during the past year, the light from it being a very steady, white light, without smoke, by far superior and more satisfactory than that furnished by the old system used here. We now have about 600 burners, which can be increased, with but a very small outlay, to five times that number. We have had no trouble in getting all the carbide we need. Including all expenses incurred in remodeling and changing the (gas) plant to the present system, our lights have not cost us nearly so much for the year as did the system abandoned in July, 1898. There is no more danger in using it than there is in the use of any gas. We think it is the best light known, and requires but little skill in its manufacture."

The popularity of this new illuminant is attested by the fact that in the few years since its development into a commercial possibility, over fifty thousand buildings have been successfully lighted by it, and the annual ratio of increase is becoming greater yearly.

It is the ideal light for dwellings, stores, churches and every class of building where artificial light is needed, and it is little wonder that the owners of indifferently lighted buildings are looking earnestly into the subject of lighting by Acetylene Gas.

FOR WOMAN'S HEALTH

Barnest Letters from Women Relieved of Pain by Mrs. Pinkham.

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before I commenced to take your medicine I was in a terrible state, wishing myself dead a good many times. Every part of my body seemed to pain in some way. At time of menstruation my suffering was something terrible. I thought there was no cure for me, but after taking several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound all my bad feelings were gone. I am now well and enjoying good health. I shall always praise your medicine.—Mrs. AMOS FESCHLER, Box 226, Romeo, Mich.

Female Troubles Overcome

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I had female trouble, painful menses, and kidney complaint, also stomach trouble. About a year ago I happened to pick up a paper that contained an advertisement of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and when I read how it had helped others, I thought it might help me, and decided to give it a trial. I did so, and as a result am now feeling perfectly well. I wish to thank you for the benefit your medicine has been to me.—Mrs. CLARA STEIBER, Diller, Neb.

No More Pain

DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your Vegetable Compound has been of much benefit to me. When my menses first appeared they were very irregular. They occurred too often and did not leave for a week or more. I always suffered at these times with terrible pains in my back and abdomen. Would be in bed for several days and would not be exactly rational at times. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and menses became regular and pains left me entirely.—Mrs. E. F. CUSTEN, Brule, Wis.

REVERSING THE PROCESS.

Maud Wintergreen Shows Harold Billmore How to Successfully Propose to a Young Woman.

"Harold Billmore, are you asking me to be your wife?"

"I think what I have been saying to you is fairly open to that interpretation, Maud Wintergreen. Didn't I do it right?"

She tapped her foot on the floor impatiently.

"No, sir."

"Where did I miss it?" he asked, humbly.

"Everywhere. You seemed to be hedging. You tried to shoot so as to hit if I were a deer and to miss if I should prove to be—"

"Oh, but you are a dear, you know."

"Don't interrupt me, sir. When you propose to a woman, propose to her. I've a great mind to show you how it ought to be done."

"I wish you would take the whole business off my hands, Maud. I'm no good at it, and I'll promise to say the right word when you've—"

"Don't be a coward, as well as a bungler, young man. Listen, now. I am the love-stricken youth—"

"All right. You're Harold Billmore."

"Not at all. This is a purely impersonal affair. You are the coy maiden."

"Yes, I'm Maud Wintergreen. Go on."

"Don't be any sillier than you are naturally. Desiring to enthrone myself in the heart of a young woman I first—"

"That sounds too much like giving a newly initiated candidate in a secret society the proper directions for entering a lodgeroom. But go on."

"If you interrupt me again with any remarks like that, Mr. Billmore, this lesson will come to an end. Begin by—no, sir, sit a little farther away. You are acting entirely out of character."

"So I was. I humbly beg your pardon. I forgot. Go on."

"If you want to marry a girl go and tell her so in a manly way. Don't you suppose, if she has any gumption, she has found out your little secret long before you have made up your mind to speak?"

"Then you have known all the time Maud, that I—"

"Once again, sir, keep your distance and let me do the talking."

"Then tell me just what I ought to have said, Maud—that's a dear girl."

"Well, remember, now, I am supposed to be a young man making a declaration of love to a young woman. I say to her: 'Lucy,' or 'Mehitabel,' as the case may be—"

"No, no! You say to her: 'Maud,' I insist on that."

"Let it be Maud, then, if it will keep you quiet. But this is only a supposition case, just the same. I don't say to her: 'Maud, do you believe in love at first sight?' or 'Maud, do you think you would marry the right fellow if he ever came along?' Nor do I put my arm on the back of her chair as if it accident—"

"I didn't know I was doing that, Maud—"

"Take your arm away from the back of this chair, sir. Neither do I hem and haw—"

"O, but I didn't do that! I may have gasped a little, but what could you expect from a fel—"

"I think I could stand up squarely before her, like a man, as I am doing now—sit down, sir! You are the listener in this conversation — and I should look her straight in the eye, like a man, and say to her: 'Lucy'—"

"No, no! 'Maud'!"

"Maud," then, for the sake of the illustration. 'Maud, I love you!'—sit down!—"

"But how would that sound? 'Maud, I love you! Sit down!'"

"I should say: 'Maud, I love you! Will you be my wife?'

"Maud, I love you! Will you be my wife?"

"Yes, that is what I should say, sir, if I wanted a girl to marry me."

The young man bounded to his feet.

"Very good," he said. "That is what you would say if you were Harold Billmore! Now listen to me!"

"But I protest—"

"Stand right there! Don't sit down! I'm doing the talking. You, speaking for Harold Billmore, have said you loved me, and have asked me to be your wife. I am speaking for Maud Wintergreen—"

"That isn't fair, now. I told you—"

"I know what you told me—as the young man. Now I'm acting as the girl. For all practical purposes I am Maud Wintergreen. I would like to say to that awkward youth: 'Harold, I have known for a long time that you loved me. Do you think I would have accepted your attentions month after month if I did not intend at last—'"

"You have no right to say anything like that. Is a girl supposed to take it for granted—"

"Don't interrupt me. I have not finished my answer yet. 'Harold,' I reply, 'you are a good and worthy young man. You may not know exactly how to make a proposal of marriage, in the most approved form, on account of a lack of previous practice, but your heart is right. Here is my answer—I will whisper it in your ear: 'Yes, Harold, I will be your wife!'"

Then of a sudden, says the Chicago Tribune, there was a lightning change of characters, and Harold Billmore was the young man again.

His arm stole around her waist, her head slowly sank on his shoulder, he bent his head downward, and—

MILLIONS FOR BASEBALL.

A million of dollars are spent every year upon the game of baseball, but as large as this sum is, it cannot begin to equal the amount spent by people in search of health. There is a sure method of obtaining strength, and it is not a costly one. We urge those who have spent much and lost hope to try Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It strengthens the stomach, makes digestion easy and natural, and cures dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and weak kidneys.

HIS FATAL MISTAKE.

"Ah, no!" Count De Flattebroke raised his voice to a tone of impassioned protest as he addressed the homely heiress. "Ah, ma, I do love you for your money. It is for your fair face that I love. My affection is as great as your beauty."

"Then, count," came the cruel answer of Miss Ugleigh, "you'll have to look a little deeper. Your affection doesn't appeal to me."

For she had a mirror that had told her a few things about her beauty.

Besides, as she afterward said, "What's the use of having money if it isn't appreciated?"

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure.

Fine Figure

Many women lose their girlish forms after they become mothers. This is due to neglect. The cure can be preserved beyond question if the expectant mother will constantly use during the whole period of pregnancy. The earlier its use is begun, the more perfectly will the shape be preserved.

Mother's Friend not only softens and relaxes the muscles during the great strain before birth, but helps the skin to contract naturally afterward. It keeps unsightly wrinkles away, and the muscles underneath retain their pliability.

Mother's Friend is that famous external liniment which banishes morning sickness and nervousness during pregnancy; shortens labor and makes it nearly painless; builds up the patient's constitutional strength, so that emerges from the ordeal without danger. The little one, too, shows the effects of Mother's Friend by its robustness and vigor.

NO USE TRYING

I can't take plain cod-liver oil. Doctor says, try it. He might as well tell me to melt lard or butter and try to take them. It is too rich and will upset the stomach. But you can take milk or cream, so you can take

Scott's Emulsion

It is like cream; but will feed and nourish when cream will not. Babies and children will thrive and grow fat on it when their ordinary food does not nourish them.

Persons have been known to gain a pound a day when taking an ounce of Scott's Emulsion. It gets the digestive machinery in working order so that the ordinary food is properly digested and assimilated.

CANCER IS NOT INCURABLE

Time was when Cancer was considered as incurable as leprosy. Physicians and friends could give little relief or encouragement to one afflicted with this terrible disease.

Even now doctors know of no remedy for this fearful malady; while admitting it to be a blood disease, they still insist that there is no hope outside of a surgical operation, and advise you to have the Cancer cut out, but at the same time cannot assure you that it will not return. You may cut or draw out the sore, but another will come in its place, for the disease is in the blood—is deep-seated and destructive, and beyond the reach of the surgeon's knife or caustic, flesh-destroying plasters. The blood must be purified and strengthened, the system relieved of all poisonous, effete matter before the Cancer sore will heal.

S. S. S. is the only medicine that can overcome this powerful and contaminating poison and force it out of the blood. It builds up and invigorates the old, and supplies new, rich, life-giving blood. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable remedy; no mineral can be found in it; the roots and herbs from which it is made contain powerful purifying properties that act directly upon the blood system and make a safe and permanent cure of Cancer. It has cured thousands, why not you?

Cancer is not always inherited; your family may be free from any taint, yet your blood may become so polluted that a severe and stubborn form of the disease may develop from a sore or ulcer on your tongue or other part of your body; a slight bruise or hurt, a little pimple on the eyelid, lip or ear, or the left side of the face. At first it gave me no trouble, I did not think it was anything serious until the jaw began to swell and became much inflamed. At this same time the sore began to spread and eat into the flesh, and gave me intense pain. I tried everything I could hear of, but nothing did me any good. I then began the use of S. S. S. and after taking several bottles the Cancer healed, and there is now no sign of the disease. This was two years ago, and I am still enjoying perfect health."

Send for our special book on Cancer; it contains much information that will interest you, it is free.

Write our physicians about your case, and for any advice or information wanted; they have made a life study of Cancer and all blood diseases. We make no charge whatever for this.

H. Clark, Chauncey, Ga., says DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve cured him of piles that had afflicted him for twenty years. It is also a speedy cure for skin diseases. Beware of dangerous counterfeits. W. T. Brooks.

"I think DeWitt's Little Early Risers are the best pills in the world," says W. E. Lake, Happy Creek, Va. They remove all obstructions of the liver and bowels, and act quickly and never gripe. W. T. Brooks.

Question Answered.

Yes August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers, and grandmothers, never thought of using anything else for indigestion or billiousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clear out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, simulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

Otto Korb, Grand Chancellor, K. P. Boonville, Ind., says, "DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve soothes the most delicate skin and heals the most stubborn ulcer with certain and good results." Cures piles and skin diseases. Don't buy an imitation. W. T. Brooks.

Does It Pay To Buy Cheap.

A cheap remedy for coughs and colds is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the ONLY remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest, and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggist in the world. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.
